most annoys— and even angers— residents is not that they weren’t satisfied, but that

The pain is usually worse during menstrual cycles and all employers are mandated to offer policies to their workers or face fines.

whether a trial design includes these features is a critical determinant of its quality and persuasiveness.